DISCUSSION BY COUNCIL OVER PROPOSED ANNEX

When Plans And Specifications Are Produced There Is Objection From Members of The Body for Reason That Contracting Firm And not Architect Prepared Them

MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE ARE TAKEN UP

Council last night in their regular adjourned meeting, with several members of the Fire department present, took up the matter of the proposed annex to the boro building, to make more suitable quarters for the firemen. Plans and specifications drawn by the Charleroi Lumber company architect were in for consideration, and the former were examined. President Jones asked if the specifications should be used, when objections were made by Councilman Piersol, who stated that he did not think the plans and specifications as prepared could be taken into consideration, inasmuch as a contracting firm and not an architect had done the work. Councilman Gottheld was of the same opinion stating he would oppose the bidding of the Charleroi Lumber Co., on their own plans. Councilman Hein thought the affair was hardly just, for the reason that he, a member of the Real Estate committee, had not been notified when the other two of that body conferred with officials of the company instructing them to draw up the plans and specifications. Mr. Frew was satisfied with the plans and was in favor of saving money in allowing the company to prepare them, while President Jones and Councilman Frye spoke along the same lines. It seems that the finance committee does not concur with the other members of council in the matter of an annex for the building, on the grounds that there is not enough money in the treasury. The idea is a good one however and will greatly benefit the firemen if built. No action was taken last night, council adjourning before anything could be done.

Another important matter to be taken up was that of the ordinance regulating the taxing of teams, opera performances, slot machines, etc. The matter caused considerable discussion, but the ordinance passed first reading, to be returned to the ordinance committee to make whatever changes they deemed necessary.

The bids for the grading and paving of Lincoln avenue from Lincoln avenue extension to the south curb line of Fifth street were opened, there being three bidders, Charleroi Paving and Construction company, Hastings, Piper and Owens and Thomas Arrigo. The matter was held over until Monday evening, July 13.

An ordinance fo the sidewalk grade of Lincoln avneue from Fifth to Sixth street passed Second reading and was shoved through the third by reading of the title.

The matter of the suit of the Charleroi Water company against the boro was placed in the hands of the boro solicitor. The defense will be discussed later.

A plan was discussed concerning the collction of personal taxes but nothing was done.

Boro Solictor McCloskey was present and spoke to council concerning the proposed bridge over Maple creek in Twilight boro for which viewers have been appointed by the county. It is desired of the boro that if the bridge is erected that they agree to build an approach. No action was taken.

"I expect to ask the young ladies of Monessen to give me their opinions in regard to the conduct, character, behavior and bearing of the young man whom they would consider a model lover.' Then on the following Sunday evening the young men will be given an opportunity to express themselves as to a Model Wife.' Suggestions are asked from all."

It cost Frank Crumm of Bishop $92.13 to angle in a creek on Sunday.

MAY BE CAUGHT IN QUARANTINE AT SUMMERVILLE

Mrs. A. J. Brown, mother of Mrs. J. W. McKean of Washington avenue Charleroi, died at her home in Summerville, Pa., yesterday after a brief illness of black diptheria. A daughter of Mrs. Brown, Miss Nellie Brown, well known in Charleroi, having formerly been employed here as night operator for the Bell Telephone Co., it is feared is on her deathbed. There is an epidemic of black diptheria in the small town and so serious are matters that the State Board of H alth may declare a general quarantine. Mr. J. W. McKean the jeweler left for Summerville this morning, and if the place is quarantined he will be caught. His wife and children have been there for several weeks.

Entertain at Cards.

Misses Jessie and Louise Joy entertained about twenty of their lady friends at their home in Monongahela last evening, at cards. Misses Iris and Anna Ellenberger of Charleroi attended.

Professor Fred Lindauer, who was pianoist at the Palace theatre all winter, has taken a position in the same capacity at the Ideal theatre at Monongahela.

CHARLEROI LOSES THE FIRST BUT SMOTHERS PIKERS IN SECOND CONTEST

Yesterday afternoon at 2:15 Abe Kruger assumed the mound for the Onions while Mack was selected by Manager Osborne as the heaver for Charleroi. Both men pitched good ball allowing 5 and 6 hits respectively. Mack was a little wild however, and his walks and wild heave figured very much in the run getting for the Fayette County boys.

Both teams scored in the second inning. Uniontown got thier two in the second when Roberts and Redman singled. Price sacrificed and when Dailey let one get through him Roberts scored and Redman took third. Cowan got a life when an attempt was made to catch Redman at the plate. For Charleroi, Heinz broke off a double after Robb had struck out. George Dailey was next and the way he lambasted that hunk of horsehide was awful. He was not satisfied with hitting the top board on the right field fence but had to drive the thing into the river. Right fielder Phillips mounted his air ship and successfully cleared the fence in an effort to recover the leather but forgot to take his diving suit and all he could do was to watch Dailey circle the milestones and chase Pickle Heinz ahead of him. Some how or other Kruger settled right down to business at this stage and all that the Cherubs could do was to get two measly singles in the remaining rounds of the contest. Dunn managed to connect safely in the sixth but remained on the cushions while his three pals went the route. In the very next round with one down Houser picked off a good one but all he had to do was watch the next three go out in rotation. The Onions for reasons best known to them did not seem to be satisfied with two tallies and done things in great style in the sixth, scoring three runs on one single, two walks and a batter hit.

Phillips walked and Roberts got soaked with one both moving up on Redmans death. Price made three on when he looked them over. Cowan smashed one on which Phillips scored, Price being forced at second and Cowan safe at first, making one on third and first and an elegant chance to pull off the double steal. The two got in action and when things settled down they had worked the play to perfection, Roberts scoring and Cowan pulling up at second from where he scored on Rudolph's single. Hilley ended the trouble by popping one to Urben. Score:

Cosgrove was out of the game.

"Hooks" Urben covered second.

Fifteen hits for twenty sacks.

Dailey tried to sink a steam boat.

The double steal was much in evidence.

Clarksburg is gaining ground by remaining idle.

Next week we have the Drummers for three games.

Uniontown got their hits in the last game after two were down.

At 4:20 when the second contest opened up Manager Osborne took charge of the heaving station for Charleroi. Mr. Smith a new recruit was chased out by Manager McCloskey. Uniontown started off like another winner when they got to Osborne for four hits in the first two innings but after that there was not much to it as he allowed but three more in the remaining round. At first the Cherubs did't take very well to Smith's benders but after the fourth inning he was tendered a warm reception as not less than two and as high as four hits were made in an inning, and when totaled it was seen that fifteen good ones had been picked off the bust.

Rudolph and Hilley fanned the air in the opening round and then Gilligan and Phillips each negotiated for doubles sending in one talley. With two down in the second round Price connected for one sack and went all the way round when Cowan landed on one for three cushions. Phillips got a hit in the Sixth but as there was two down he died at the post. In the ninth with two down Roberts got to third on his drive and when Redman connected safely he passed the fourth brick with their third run.

Charleroi had got but two hits until the fourth round. Here O'Hara led off with a double and Robb sent him in with a single. Heinz sacrificed and Robb forgot to quit running, going to third on the out from where he scored on May's death. In the next Osborne singled and moved up on Nallys out. Dunn singled and Arch was over. To tell what happened in the next round would be a long story as hits, walks lifes and scores were very much in evidance, three runs being chalked up on four bingles and one walk, eight batters facing Smith in this round. Just to show that he could hit some Robb broke loose with a single in the seventh and then stole second. Heinz didnt connect safely but when May reached first on Hilleys error Robb pulled up at the third station. Houser who was due for a hit broke it off and Robb was over. Great things happened in the ninth. After Urben had got three healthy swings at the leather Osborne got a single. Nally died and made the second one down. Then Dunn, who cavorts around the short field throught he would take his turn. He picked out his favorite stick and assumed the position. Smith put one just where he wanted it and Dunn stung it. He didn't think he had hit it very hard but on rounding first he saw it sailing through the air and put on more steam. Rounding second Dunn seen there was nothing too it and kept on going for home with the last run of the afternoon. Score:

WILL WAGE A GENERAL WARFARE AGAINST COMPANY

Boro Will Have A Strong Defense When They Answer Charges Of Charleroi Water Concern In Court August 3rd.

WANT PURER WATER AND BETTER SERVICE

The boro of Charleroi will have a strong defense when on August 3rd, they appear in the courts of Washington County to answer the charges made by the Charleroi Water Company in their suit to recover $2,275 with interest, alleged due for furnishing water to the boro for a period of five quarters.

A general warfare will be made against the company and they will be taken severly to task for not living up to the wording in the franchise, as is claimed by the boro council. Several of the business men of the town, and many of the physicians will be taken up to swear that the water is unfit for general household use, and has unhealthful properties entering into it which might cause sickness. Then there will be taken up the matter of the fire plugs in various places of town which it will be claimed were to have been prepared but as yet nothing being done. Men will be taken to court to testify to the low pressure of water and the invalidity of service when most needed as in cases of fire. The matter of the duplicate pump will likely enter into the plan of defense. Solicitor D. M. McCloskey is in charge of the boro's end, but it is probable that another will be employed to assist him later on.

INTERESTING SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Thompson of Shovel Works row, was the scene of a very pleasant surprise party, tendered the former Thursday evening in honor of his 44th birthday anniversary. About forty friends, neighbors and relatives assembled to do honor to the occasion. Mr. Thompson was very much surprised when [illegible] by so many of his neighbors and well wishers but proved himself equal to the occasion ably assisted by his wife and family, who made the occasion a most enjoyable one. The evening was spent in various ways. The spacious lawn and vineclad arbors were passed into service and under the beautiful moonlight added much to the pleasantness of the occasion.

Mr. Thompson was made the recipient of a beautiful Meerschaum pipe, presented to him by his friends. Mrs. Thompson aided by Mesdames Booth, Robison, Vellettay and her daughter, Miss Annie, served an enjoyable lunch.

A suit has been started against the supervisors of Independence by Grover Carl for $50 damages done to his buggy as the result of a fence being built across the public highway by J. B. Panter. The erection of the fence caused Mr. Carl's horse to run away demolishing his buggy.

A charter has been granted at Washington to the Monongahela Horse and Mule company with a capital stock of $10,000. The incorporators are H. E. Young, Lee Hepler and G. A. Anderson.

Robb struck out twice in the first game but he was surely busy in the second. He had three hits, three runs and stole two sacks.

Bert Humphries today. This will be the first game he has pitched against Uniontown that Kruger has not opposed him.

For his drive over the fence Catcher Dailey was presented with his choice of any suit of clothes in stock by the Leslie Campbell Co. of McKean avenue. Their proposition was that a batter hit their sign in right field but Dailey came so near it that he was entitled to a suit according to the clothing company's idea. Watch for George to wear it.

A Dead One.

The nomination of John W. Kern, of Indiana, as the Democratic nominee for Vice-President, removes the last obstacle to a full resumption of business as it destroys the last vestige of the very remote chance of Democratic success this Fall.

It is doubtful if there ever was a more unpopular man in public life in Indiana than John W. Kern. Of what use will it be for the Democrats to appeal to the heart and conscience of the American people when they are shown that the principle source of Kern's income is derived from acting as counsel for the West Baden gambling hells? "The one eyed constable of Stamper's Creek" is destined to become a national figure before this campaign is over, much to the discomfiture of Mr. Kern.

Mr. Kern was the Democratic candidate for governor of Indiana in 1900 and 1904, and in neither election did he carry the precinct, ward, city or county in which he lives, as those who know him best have least use for him. Nothing more clearly shows the depth to which the Democratic party has fallen than that a man of Kern's calibre is put forward as representative of a State that gave that party a McDonald, a Hendricks, a Voorhees and a Turpie.

There will be no campaign this Fall as the result is a foregone conclusion. Of course the Peerless One will set a wave of hysteria a rolling but it will be all froth and foam and make no more impression on the people than so much weak tea. A stronger revival will now set in as the last hope of a change from tried policies vanished when Bryan and Kern were nominated at Denver.

The Law's Delay.

If one were to be asked in what respect we had fallen farthest short of ideal conditions in our whole government, I think he would be justified in answering, in spite of the glaring defects in our system of municipal government, that it is our failure to secure expedition and thoroughness in the enforcement of public and private rights in our courts.—W. H. Taft.

The opinion is not peculiar to Mr. Taft, but is held by an increasingly large number of thoughtful Americans. In no country, where the administration of law has risen above the knife and bowstring, would such farces and denials of justice be permitted as those which are of daily occurrence in our courts.

Prate about having respect for the courts if you will, declare they are pure and learned and sacred, but sit down among a group of men in any station of life and ninety-nine out of every hundred, will speak of our courts with sneering contempt. A big majority will tell you our courts are entitled to no man's respect and to no man's confidence and that the law is money and point out dozens of cases to prove it. The courts may well take heed of those things and change them.

Jealous.

The Drug Store Dynasty "will bear no brother near the throne." Some restaurant proprietors in Moral-Spot-On-Catfish were serving their patrons one of the "57 varieties" of "just as good" substitutes for the stuff with a cinder in it, when the Dynasty became inflamed with jealousy and set the "assassins of the law" after them. The restaurant men should have had more sense than to attempt to poach on the preserves of the Dynasty. They should have bought drugs and then they would have been in a position to assume a Chadbandian pose of purity and lofty morality and alternately rail at and deplore the depravity of those who sale liquor lawfully on "the river."

Avoid the sale of "tonics" in Moral Spot: become a "druggist" with all that that term implies, and then you will run no danger of "letters" and "rules," and by joining the Plug Hat Regime you can stand around and emit some sniveling cant about the iniquity of liquor selling—by other people, of course.

What It Was.

Victor Hugo, the man who came nearer telling the truth about what happened in France than any man who ever wrote or spoke about it, in writing about one of those periodic convulsions that shook that nation to the foundation, said:

"The contentions of the period were those of aggregations of interests rather than that of a struggle around a group of principles."

Carefully read that paragraph over until you catch its fine sense and see how graphically it decribes the scenes enacted at Denver. "The contentions of aggregations of interests." What could more accurately tell of the pulling down and setting up of men when their "interests" clashed?

The Grist.

The fanning mill at Denver run by the air compressor at Lincoln blew out a Kern-al of beans, at least he is windy enough to warrant the supposition that he is the Lima variety of that vegetable.

Unscathed

Up to the time of going to press no "rules" or "letters" have been served on the coal companies for extortions.

Alike In One Way.

AN ISLAND OF QUIET.

Yet Going Downtown in Madeira Is an Exciting Event.

Madeira is populated, yet is one of the quietest as well as one of the most beautiful places in the world. Although the roads are paved with round beach stones, there is nothing to remind one of the fact, because, as David G. Fairchild, agricultural explorer of the department of agriculture, explains in the National Geographic Magazine, there are no horses or jolting wheels.

All vehicles in Madeira are on runners. If you go calling it is in a bullock sledge with canopy top and comfortable seats. If you move a bank safe or a steam boiler it is carried on a "stone boat," or sledge of poles, and you may have to get forty oxen to pull it. If you are in a villa on the hillside and want to get downtown you take a running car and slide down over the cobblestones.

Two strong men, each holding a guide rope, pull your car over a bag of grease to grease the runners and then give you a running shove and jump each on a runner behind as the car shoots down at a breakneck pace over the cobblestones.

The men yell, hens and dogs scamper, foot passengers cling close to the wall of the narrow street, the runners get hot and fill the air with odor of burning wood as you shoot round sharp corners, down the busy thoroughfare, past gorgeous masses of flowering creepers which hang over the walls of the private villas that border your road.

But, oh, the change when you get to the bottom! You are obliged either to walk or take a carro, drawn by slow moving bullocks, squeaking and slipping over the stones.

ORIGIN OF THE HORSE.

The Modern Animal a Cross Between Two Ancient Breeds.

In Wissen fur Alle Professor Koenig discusses in some detail the origin of the horse of today. He finds that the horse of neolithic times was not specifically distinct from the horse of the present. While there is no doubt that the horse of that period was used by man for food, there seems to be no conclusive evidence as to whether it was domesticated or not. His own opinion, however, is that it was probably domesticated.

The horse of that time was closely allied to the tarpan or semiwild horse that lived in southern Russia up to a century ago. This was a "hog maned," short legged, large headed beast. It seems probable that the domesticated horses of the Germans of Caesar's time were derived from this breed.

The Egyptians had horses as early as 1900 B. C. These were long maned, more like the Arab horses, and came from Assyria. Where the Assyrians obtained them is unknown, but it was probably from southern Asia, where this long maned breed has been developed in all probability as the result of long continued domestication. The modern horse is a cross between these two breeds, with a further mixture of the Arab horse. This Arab horse, too, was itself a descendant of the earlier long maned horse.

The origin of the long maned horse is a matter of doubt, but Professor Koenig thinks it may have been from an extinct Indian species.

Women Who Marry at Thirty-five.

A German doctor lays it down as a well established fact based on close observation that women who do not marry until thirty-five or thereabout invariably achieve matrimonial success. Why women of this particular age should make more successful marriages than those who fall victims to love's young dream is fairly obvious. When a young woman marries between thirty and forty she either does so for companionship, choosing her mate accordingly, or from need, in which case she also chooses with a certain amount of care. She has no wild dreams of unalloyed bliss.—London Lady's Pictorial.

The Grandest.

"What is the grandest thing in the universe?" asks Victor Hugo. "A storm at sea," he answers and continues, "And what is grander than a storm at sea?" "The unclouded heavens on a starry, moonless night." "And what is grander than these midnight skies?" "The soul of man"—a spectacular climax such as Hugo loved and still, with all its dramatic effects, the picturesque statement of a vast and sublime and mighty truth.

Among the Exchanges

The state board of pardon is getting a large amount of criticism because of its action on two murder cases from Venango county. One is that of James Strail, convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his wife, who was recommended to be subjected to imprisonment or life, and the other was that of young Russian named Holka also convicted of murder in the first degree for killing a policeman, from whom no mercy was shown.

All the Franklin newspapers deplore the decision, being united in sentiment to the following from the Venango Daily Herald: "We say it with cool deliberation—if either case should have been given another chance it was the young foreigner, momentarily excited, unable to speak our language, and shooting to save from the clutches of the law a comrade, rather than the wife-muderer, who deliberately lay in wait for his victim and shot her down without remorse, cursing her as he did so. Venango county juries found these men guilty. If both were guilty, either the utter penalty or clemency should be equally extended to each. This case threatens to stain the history of this grand old county with a blot of foul injustice."

When Father Packs the Trunk.

When mother packs the trunk, she lays
Each garment in its place.
She folds things neatly, smooths them down
And leaves no vacant space.
She works in such a quiet way
You'd never think 'twas hot,
And when we get to Lonelyville
There's nothing she's forgot.

When father packs the trunk—gee whiz!
You ought to see him, now!
He grabs the things up right and left
And chucks them anyhow.
He rams them in and jams them down,
And later on you'll find
The very thing he wants the most
He's somehow left behind.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Trouble, Profit by Charleroi People's Experiences

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Charleroi prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. B. B. Ray, living at 121 Prospect Ave., Charleroi, Pa., says: "Some time ago my husband contracted a severe cold, which together with hard work caused his kidneys to become deranged. He was in poor health for some time and suffered dreadfully on account of pains in his back. There was a constant dull, heavy pain across his kidneys that made it almost impossible for him to get up or down, and the action of the kidneys was very irregular. When we learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, he sent to Piper Bros.' Drug Store and obtained a box. After using this remedy only a few days he noticed a decided improvement. He continued with Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time the trouble entirely disappeared. He has had no return of the trouble and is grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now, and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. interest paid in savings department.

Beigel's Big Shoe Sale.

Beginning today, Saturday, L. Beigel the McKean avenue shoe dealer, will begin a big clearance sale which will give the people of this section an opportunity to get the best shoes made far and away below the regular prices. This advertisement telling where and how the reductions are made appears on another page.

It is entertaining reading—to learn that the oxfords for hot weather where you expected to pay from $3 to $6 for will now cost you from $2.33 to $4.33.

This sale is not of stock purporting to be "just as good" as the first class grades, but is the first-class grades themselves, cut from the prices they're made to sell at to the low figures announced.

"When I took stock I found that I and over $26,000 worth of shoes in my store" said Mr. Beigel. "That is entirely too much stock to carry and I am going to reduce it, by cutting prices to the bone.

This sale is interesting to the public, because it is genuine. Every person knows the shoes Mr. Beigel handles, and when they go at lower prices than they're marked at everywhere, there's some real shoe bargains offered. 286tl

When Plans And Specifications Are Produced There Is Objection From Members of The Body for Reason That Contracting Firm And not Architect Prepared Them

MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE ARE TAKEN UP

Council last night in their regular adjourned meeting, with several members of the Fire department present, took up the matter of the proposed annex to the boro building, to make more suitable quarters for the firemen. Plans and specifications drawn by the Charleroi Lumber company architect were in for consideration, and the former were examined. President Jones asked if the specifications should be used, when objections were made by Councilman Piersol, who stated that he did not think the plans and specifications as prepared could be taken into consideration, inasmuch as a contracting firm and not an architect had done the work. Councilman Gottheld was of the same opinion stating he would oppose the bidding of the Charleroi Lumber Co., on their own plans. Councilman Hein thought the affair was hardly just, for the reason that he, a member of the Real Estate committee, had not been notified when the other two of that body conferred with officials of the company instructing them to draw up the plans and specifications. Mr. Frew was satisfied with the plans and was in favor of saving money in allowing the company to prepare them, while President Jones and Councilman Frye spoke along the same lines. It seems that the finance committee does not concur with the other members of council in the matter of an annex for the building, on the grounds that there is not enough money in the treasury. The idea is a good one however, and will greatly benefit the firemen if built. No action was taken last night, council adjourning before anything could be done.

Another important matter to be taken up was that of the ordinance regulating the taxing of teams, opera performances, slot machines, etc. The matter caused considerable discussion, but the ordinance passed first reading, to be returned to the ordinance committee to make whatever changes they deemed necessary.

The bids for the grading and paving of Lincoln avenue from Lincoln avenue extension to the south curb line of Fifth street were opened, there being three bidders, Charleroi Paving and Construction company, Hastings, Piper and Owens and Thomas Arrigo. The matter was held over until Monday evening, July 13.

An ordinance fo the sidewalk grade of Lincoln avneue from Fifth to Sixth street passed Second reading and was shoved through the third by reading of the title.

The matter of the suit of the Charleroi Water company against the boro was placed in the hands of the boro solicitor. The defense will be discussed later.

A plan was discussed concerning the collction of personal taxes but nothing was done.

Boro Solictor McCloskey was present and spoke to council concerning the proposed bridge over Maple creek in Twilight boro for which viewers have been appointed by the county. It is desired of the boro that if the bridge is erected that they agree to build an approach. No action was taken.

CHARLEROI LOSES THE FIRST BUT SMOTHERS PIKERS IN SECOND CONTEST

Yesterday afternoon at 2:15 Abe Kruger assumed the mound for the Onions while Mack was selected by Manager Osborne as the beaver for Charleroi. Both men pitched good ball allowing 5 and 6 hits respectively. Mack was a little wild however, and his walks and wild heave figured very much in the run getting for the Fayette County boys.

Both teams scored in the second inning. Uniontown got thier two in the second when Roberts and Redman singled, Price sacrificed and when Bailey let one get through him Roberts scored and Redman took third. Cowan got a life when an attempt was made to catch Redman at the plate. For Charleroi, Heinz broke off a double after Robb had struck out. George Dailey was next and the way he lambasted that hunk of horsehide was awful. He was not satisfied with hitting the top board on the right field fence but had to drive the thing into the river. Right fielder Phillips mounted his air ship and successfully cleared the fence in an effort to recover the leather but forgot to take his diving suit and all he could do was to watch Dailey circle the milestones and chase Pickle Heinz ahead of him. Some how or other Kruger settled right down to business at this stage and all that the Cherubs could do was to get two measly singles in the remaining rounds of the contest. Dunn managed to connect safely in the sixth but remained on the cushions while his three pals went the route. In the very next round with one down Houser picked off a good one but all he had to do was watch the next three go out in rotation. The Onions for reasons best known to them did not seem to be satisfied with two tallies and done things in great style in the sixth, scoring three runs on one single, two walks and a batter hit.

Phillips walked and Roberts got soaked with one both moving up on Redmans death. Price made three on when he looked them over. Cowan smashed one on which Phillips scored, Price being forced at second and Cowan safe at first, making one on third and first and an elegant chance to pull off the double steal. The two got in action and when things settled down they had worked the play to perfection, Roberts scoring and Cowan pulling up at second from where he scored on Rudolph's single. Hilley ended the trouble by popping one to Urben. Score:

Too much Kruger is all.

Cosgrove was out of the game.

"Hooks" Urben covered second.

Fifteen hits for twenty sacks.

Dailey tried to sink a steam boat.

The double steal was much in evidence.

Clarksburg is gaining ground by remaining idle.

Next week we have the Drummers for three games.

Uniontown got their hits in the last frame after two were down.

At 4:20 when the second contest opened up Manager Osborne took charge of the heaving station for Charleroi. Mr. Smith a new recruit was chased out by Manager McCloskey. Uniontown started off like another winner when they got to Osborne for four hits in the first two innings but after that there was not much to it as he allowed but three more in the remaining round. At first the Cherubs did't take very well to Smith's benders but after the fourth inning he was tendered a warm reception as not less than two and as high as four hits were made in an inning, and when totaled it was seen that fifteen good ones had been picked off the bush.

Rudolph and Hilley fanned the air in the opening round and then Gilligan and Phillips each negotiated for doubles sending in one talley. With two down in the second round Price connected for one sack and went all the way round when Cowan landed on one for three cushions. Phillips got a hit in the Sixth but as there was two down he died at the post. In the ninth with two down Roberts got to third on his drive and when Redman connected safely he passed the fourth brick with their third run.

Charleroi had got but two hits until the fourth round. Here O'Hare led off with a double and Robb sent him in with a single. Heinz sacrificed and Robb forgot to quit running, going to third on the out from where he scored on May's death. In the next Osborne singled and moved up on Nallys out. Dunn singled and Arch was over. To tell what happened in the next round would be a long story as hits, walks lifes and scores were very much in evidence, three runs being chalked up on four bingles and one walk, eight batters facing Smith in this round. Just to show that he could hit some Robb broke loose with a single in the seventh and then stole second. Heinz didnt' connect safely but when May reached first on Hilleys error Robb pulled up at the third station. Houser who was due for a hit broke it off and Robb was over. Great things happened in the ninth. After Urben had got three healthy swings at the leather Osborne got a single. Nally died and made the second one down. Then Dunn, who cavorts around the short field throught he would take his turn. He picked out his favorite stick and assumed the position. Smith put one just where he wanted it and Dunn stung it. He didn't think he had hit it very hard but on rounding first he saw it sailing through the air and put on more steam. Rounding second Dunn seen there was nothing too it and kept on going for home with the last run of the afternoon. Score:

WILL WAGE A GENERAL WARFARE AGAINST COMPANY

Boro Will Have A Strong Defense When They Answer Charges Of Charleroi Water Concern In Court August 3rd.

WANT PURER WATER AND BETTER SERVICE

The boro of Charleroi will have a strong defense when on August 3rd, they appear in the courts of Washington County to answer the charges made by the Charleroi Water Company in their suit to recover $2,275 with interest, alleged due for furnishing water to the boro for a period of five quarters.

A general warfare will be made against the company and they will be taken severly to task for not living up to the wording in the franchise, as is claimed by the boro council. Several of the business men of the town, and many of the physicians will be taken up to swear that the water is unfit for general household use, and has unhealthful properties entering into it which might cause sickness. Then there will be taken up the matter of the fire plugs in various places of town which it will be claimed were to have been prepared but as yet nothing being done. Men will be taken to court to testify to the low pressure of water and the invalidity of service when most needed as in cases of fire. The matter of the duplicate pump will likely enter into the plan of defense. Solicitor D. M. McCloskey is in charge of the boro's end, but it is probable that another will be employed to assist him later on.

INTERESTING SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Thompson of Shovel Works row, was the scene of a very pleasant surprise party, tendered the former Thursday evening in honor of his 44th birthday anniversary. About forty friends, neighbors and relatives assembled to do honor to the occasion. Mr. Thompson was very much surprised when greeted by so many of his neighbors and well wishers but proved himself equal to the occasion ably assisted by his wife and family, who made the occasion a most enjoyable one. The evening was spent in various ways. The spacious lawn and vineclad arbors were passed into service and under the beautiful moonlight added much to the pleasantness of the occasion.

Mr. Thompson was made the recipient of a beautiful Meerschaum pipe, presented to him by his friends. Mrs. Thompson aided by Mesdames Booth, Robison, Vellettay and her daughter, Miss Annie, served an enjoyable lunch.

A suit has been started against the supervisors of Independence by Grover Carl for $50 damages done to his buggy as the result of a fence being built across the public highway by J. B. Panter. The erection of the fence caused Mr. Carl's horse to run away demolishing his buggy.

A charter has been granted at Washington to the Monongahela Horse and Mule company with a capital stock of $10,000. The incorporators are H. E. Young, Lee Hepler and G. A. Anderson.

Robb struck out twice in the first game but he was surely busy in the second. He had three hits, three runs and stole two sacks.

Bert Humphries today. This will be the first game he has pitched against Uniontown that Kruger has not opposed him.

For his drive over the fence Catcher Dailey was presented with his choice of any suit of clothes in stock by the Leslie Campbell Co. of McKean avenue. Their proposition was that a batter hit their sign in right field but Dailey came so near it that he was entitled to a suit according to the clothing company's idea. Watch for George to wear it.

A Dead One.

The nomination of John W. Kern, of Indiana, as the Democratic nominee for Vice-President, removes the last obstacle to a full resumption of business as it destroys the last vestige of the very remote chance of Democratic success this Fall.

It is doubtful if there ever was a more unpopular man in public life in Indiana than John W. Kern. Of what use will it be for the Democrats to appeal to the heart and conscience of the American people when they are shown that the principle source of Kern's income is derived from acting as counsel for the West Baden gambling hells? "The one-eyed constable of Stamper's Creek" is destined to become a national figure before this campaign is over, much to the discomfiture of Mr. Kern.

Mr. Kern was the Democratic candidate for governor of Indiana in 1900 and 1904, and in neither election did he carry the precinct, ward, city or county in which he lives, as those who know him best have least use for him. Nothing more clearly shows the depth to which the Democratic party has fallen than that a man of Kern's calibre is put forward as representative of a State that gave that party a McDonald, a Hendricks, a Voorhees and a Turpie.

There will be no campaign this Fall as the result is a foregone conclusion. Of course the Peerless One will set a wave of hysteria a rolling but it will be all froth and foam and make no more impression on the people than so much weak tea. A stronger revival will now set in as the last hope of a change from tried policies vanished when Bryan and Kern were nominated at Denver.

The Law's Delay.

If one were to be asked in what respect we had fallen farthest short of ideal conditions in our whole government, I think he would be justified in answering, in spite of the glaring defects in our system of municipal government, that it is our failure to secure expedition and thoroughness in the enforcement of public and private rights in our courts.—W. H. Taft.

The opinion is not peculiar to Mr. Taft, but is held by an increasingly large number of thoughtful Americans In no country, where the administration of law has risen above the knife and bowstring, would such farces and denials of justice be permitted as those which are of daily occurrence in our courts.

Prate about having respect for the courts if you will, declare they are pure and learned and sacred, but sit down among a group of men in any station of life and ninety-nine out of every hundred, will speak of our courts with sneering contempt. A big majority will tell you our courts are entitled to no man's respect and to no man's confidence and that the law is money and point out dozens of cases to prove it. The courts may well take heed of those things and change them.

Jealous.

The Drug Store Dynasty "will bear no brother near the throne." Some restaurant proprietors in Moral-Spot-On-Catfish were serving their patrons one of the "57 varieties" of "just as good" substitutes for the stuff with a cinder in it, when the Dynasty became inflamed with jealousy and set the "assassins of the law" after them. The restaurant men should have had more sense than to attempt to poach on the preserves of the Dynasty. They should have bought drugs and then they would have been in a position to assume a Chadbandian pose of purity and lofty morality and alternately rail at and deplore the depravity of those who sale liquor lawfully on "the river."

Avoid the sale of "tonics" in Moral Spot: become a "druggist" with all that that term implies, and then you will run no danger of "letters" and "rules," and by joining the Plug Hat Regime you can stand around and emit some sniveling cant about the iniquity of liquor selling—by other people.

What It Was.

Victor Hugo, the man who came nearer telling the truth about what happened in France than any man who ever wrote or spoke about it, in writing about one of those periodic convulsions that shook that nation to the foundation, said:

"The contentions of the period were those of aggregations of interests rather than that of a struggle around a group of principles."

Carefully read that paragraph over until you catch its fine sense and see how graphically it decribes the scenes enacted at Denver. "The contentions of aggregations of interests." What could more accurately tell of the pulling down and setting up of men when their "interests" clashed?

The Grist.

The fanning mill at Denver run by the air compressor at Lincoln blew out a Kern-al of beans, at least he is windy enough to warrant the supposition that he is the Lima variety of that vegetable.

Unscathed

Up to the time of going to press no "rules" or "letters" have been served on the coal companies for extortions.

AN ISLAND OF QUIET.

Yet Going Downtown In Madeira Is an Exciting Event.

Madeira is populous, yet is one of the quietest as well as one of the most beautiful places in the world. Although the roads are paved with round beach stones, there is nothing to remind one of the fact, because, as David G. Fairchild, agricultural explorer of the department of agriculture, explains in the National Geographic Magazine, there are no horses or jolting wheels.

All vehicles in Madeira are on runners. If you go calling it is in a bullock sledge with canopy top and comfortable seats. If you move a bank safe or a steam boiler it is carried on a "stone boat," or sledge of poles, and you may have to get forty oxen to pull it. If you are in a villa on the hillside and want to get downtown you take a running car and slide down over the cobblestones.

Two strong men, each holding a guide rope, pull your car over a bag of grease to grease the runners and then give you a running shove and jump each on a runner behind as the car shoots down at a breakneck pace over the cobblestones.

The men yell, hens and dogs scamper, foot passengers cling close to the wall of the narrow street, the runners get hot and fill the air with odor of burning wood as you shoot round sharp corners, down the busy thoroughfare, past gorgeous masses of flowering creepers which hang over the walls of the private villas that border your road.

But, oh, the change when you get to the bottom! You are obliged either to walk or take a carro, drawn by slow moving bullocks, squeaking and slipping over the stones.

ORIGIN OF THE HORSE.

The Modern Animal a Cross Between Two Ancient Breeds.

In Wissen fur Alle Professor Koenig discusses in some detail the origin of the horse of today. He finds that the horse of neolithic times was not specifically distinct from the horse of the present. While there is no doubt that the horse of that period was used by man for food, there seems to be no conclusive evidence as to whether it was domesticated or not. His own opinion, however, is that it was probably domesticated.

The horse of that time was closely allied to the tarpan or semiwild horse that lived in southern Russia up to a century ago. This was a "hog maned," short legged, large headed beast. It seems probable that the domesticated horses of the Germans of Caesar's time were derived from this breed.

The Egyptians had horses as early as 1900 B. C. These were long maned, more like the Arab horses, and came from Assyria. Where the Assyrians obtained them is unknown, but it was probably from southern Asia, where this long maned breed has been developed in all probability as the result of long continued domestication. The modern horse is a cross between these two breeds, with a further mixture of the Arab horse. This Arab horse, too, was itself a descendant of the earlier long maned horse.

The origin of the long maned horse is a matter of doubt, but Professor Koenig thinks it may have been from an extinct Indian species.

Women Who Marry at Thirty-five.

A German doctor lays it down as a well established fact based on close observation that women who do not marry until thirty-five or thereabout invariably achieve matrimonial success. Why women of this particular age should make more successful marriages than those who fall victims to love's young dream is fairly obvious. When a young woman marries between thirty and forty she either does so for companionship, choosing her mate accordingly, or from need, in which case she also chooses with a certain amount of care. She has no wild dreams of unalloyed bliss.—London Lady's Pictorial.

The Grandest.

"What is the grandest thing in the universe?" asks Victor Hugo. "A storm at sea," he answers and continues, "And what is grander than a storm at sea?" "The unclouded heavens on a starry, moonless night." "And what is grander than these midnight skies?" "The soul of man"—a spectacular climax such as Hugo loved and still, with all its dramatic effects, the picturesque statement of a vast and sublime and mighty truth.

Among the Exchanges

The state board of pardon is getting a large amount of criticism because of its action on two murder cases from Venango county. One is that of James Strail, convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his wife, who was recommended to be subjected to imprisonment or life, and the other was that of young Russian named Holka also convicted of murder in the first degree for killing a policeman, from whom no mercy was shown.

All the Franklin newspapers deplore the decision, being united in sentiment to the following from the Venango Daily Herald: "We say it with cool deliberation—if either case should have been given another chance it was the young foreigner, momentarily excited, unable to speak our language, and shooting to save from the clutches of the law a comrade, rather than the wife-muderer, who deliberately lay in wait for his victim and shot her down without remorse, cursing her as he did so. Venango county juries found these men guilty. It both were guilty, either the utter penalty or clemency should be equally extended to each. This case threatens to stain the history of this grand old county with a blot of foul injustice."

When Father Packs the Trunk.

When mother packs the trunk, she lays
Each garment in its place.
She folds things neatly, smooths them down
And leaves no vacant space.
She works in such a quiet way
You'd never think 'twas hot.
And when we get to Lonelyville
There's nothing she's forgot.

When father packs the trunk—gee whiz!
You ought to see him, now!
He grabs the things up right and left
And chucks them anyhow.
He rams them in and jams them down,
And later on you'll find
The very thing he wants the most
He's somehow left behind.

That is the song of the day.

And fall on your head till you almost swear—
At the man who brought out diabalo.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Trouble, Profit by Charleroi People's Experiences

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Charleroi prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. B. B. Ray, living at 121 Prospect Ave., Charleroi, Pa., says: "Some time ago my husband contracted a severe cold, which together with hard work caused his kidneys to become deranged. He was in poor health for some time and suffered dreadfully on account of pains in his back. There was a constant dull, heavy pain across his kidneys that made it almost impossible for him to get up or down, and the action of the kidneys was very irregular. When we learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, he sent to Piper Bros.' Drug Store and obtained a box. After using this remedy only a few days he noticed a decided improvement. He continued with Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time the trouble entirely disappeared. He has had no return of the trouble and is grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now, and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. intereet paid in savings department.

Beigel's Big Shoe Sale.

Beginning today, Saturday, L. Beigel the McKean avenue shoe dealer, will begin a big clearance sale which will give the people of this section an opportunity to get the best shoes made far and away below the regular prices. This advertisement telling where and how the reductions are made appears on another page.

It is entertaining reading—to learn that the oxfords for hot weather where you expected to pay from $3 to $6 for will now cost you from $2.33 to $4.33.

This sale is not of stock purporting to be "just as good" as the first class grades, but is the first-class grades themselves, cut from the prices they're made to sell at to the low figures announced.

"When I took stock I found that I and over $26,000 worth of shoes in my store" said Mr. Beigel. "That is entirely too much stock to carry and I am going to reduce it, by cutting prices to the bone.

This sale is interesting to the public, because it is genuine. Every person knows the shoes Mr. Beigel handles, and when they go at lower prices than they're marked at everywhere, there's some real shoe bargains offered. 286t1

Old Christmas.

When Gregory XIII. reformed the calendar in 1582 he omitted ten days, but when the new style was adopted in England in 1752 it was necessary to cut off eleven days, which brought Jan. 6 back to Dec. 25 of the previous year. So what we now call Jan. 6 in the old style would be Christmas day, or Dec. 25.
